

Where Do You Place Your Trust?

When life goes wrong and you're surrounded by enemies,
Where do you place your trust?
When your followers doubt and your friends dissuade you,
Where do you place your trust?

Whose voice do you choose to follow?
Whose path do you choose to tread?
I, the Lord, am close beside you.
I speak to all who have ears to hear
My voice is a voice of compassion and wisdom,
Speaking in silence if you will but be still.

Who do you choose to put your faith in today?
Where do you place your trust?

You do not have to be unusual to be unique – only be yourself!
Have the courage to explore the areas of yourself that you see in no-one else.

Trust me in all circumstances and I will lead you to places and through experiences whose only purpose is to show you who you are: I value you for who you are, not what you do.

What do I care about material possessions or human achievements?
I have the whole world, and if that were not enough I could conjure another with a single thought.
No, my concern is for you – I love you and long for your happiness.
You are my beloved.
You are the object of my affection, the apple of my eye.
